A Sales Perspective

Our new professional ConcreteScience® image and identity makes our services even easier to sell. The Catalyst™ management system helps me keep track of my service offerings, proposals, marketing materials and most importantly my leads and estimates. This was a great excuse to finally computerize and organize our office. Now when customers call, they already know they are talking to a professional, reliable contractor. The ConcreteScience® brand recognition certainly makes a difference for me when it comes to getting the jobs at the right price.

A Manager's Perspective

Managing and scheduling jobs, crews and customers is not an easy task. With our new ConcreteScience® system, I can take care of everything quickly and easily. ConcreteScience® has given us direction and helped us grow from a start up company to a professional concrete services provider almost overnight. Now we offer new services including maintenance, decorative concrete and a few new restoration systems. The hands on training, marketing and sales help is really top notch. ConcreteScience® makes my job a whole lot easier.
